PROPOSED NATIONAL PARK

Mr. Klutz Presents a Strong Memorial.

MR. SMALL'S IMPORTANT BILL.

Reformation in the Matter of Seed Distribution—Linney is After Some Old War Claims.

Representative Klutz, of North Carolina, has taken up the matter of a proposed national park in North Carolina. In the house the other day he presented a strong memorial from the members of the Appalachian National Park Association. The memorial sets forth the desire of the association for the establishment of a national park in the Appalachian region of the state and requests congress to enact a bill for the examination, and surveys in order to determine the best location for a proposed national park in that section of the south. The memorial of the association has been referred to the committee on public buildings and grounds.

The members of the North Carolina delegation are believed to be unanimously in favor of the establishment of a national park and they will use every effort to get congress to approve of the idea.

A bill of some importance to the state has been introduced in the house by Representative Small. The measure is to authorize and direct the secretary of war to make a preliminary examination and survey of Pasquotank river, at a point known as South Mills, through the said river, and cut to Albemarle sound, to Croatan sound, through Croatan sound to Pamlico sound, through Pamlico to Core sound, through Core sound to Beaufort inlet, including a survey of said inlet, with the cost of fast-blasting permanently a draft of water not less than eighteen feet over said said Beaufort inlet bar at low water. The bill has been referred to the committee on rivers and harbors.

Efforts are being made to secure a reformation in the matter of seed distribution. Representative Linney, of South Carolina, is leading the movement, which has the support of many southern representatives. It is claimed that under the present system of sending seeds out to the people through members of congress, that there is an unfair discrimination, and if the system is to be continued the amount should be at least doubled. The South Carolina representative is in favor of having the department of agriculture collect all the improved varieties of seeds possible, and send them to the various experimental stations of the states for experimental purposes, and the resultant seeds obtained to be sent to the people through the various agricultural departments of the different states. When the agricultural appropriation bill comes up for consideration in the house of representatives, it is likely that Mr. Linney will introduce an amendment carrying out this idea. As a member of the agriculture committee, he has already made several attempts to get the committee to adopt his idea, but thus far without much success.

Representative Linney, of North Carolina, has introduced a bill for the relief of D. F. Fronsberger, the surviving partner of the firm of D. Fronsberger & Company, of Cleveland County, North Carolina. The bill is for the payment of an old war claim, growing out of the seizure of property during the war between the states.

Senator Butler spoke in the senate yesterday afternoon on the proposed resolution of Senator Pritchard. His speech was mainly devoted to a defense of the senator's attitude of opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment limiting suffrage.

THE HOLTON INTERVIEW.

Mr. Holton Says His Statement Was True.

We take the following article from the Morning Post:

Several days ago The Post printed a paragraph from the Washington correspondent of the Atlanta Journal, relating to the visit of Chairman Holton to Washington. The day after its appearance in the Post our Winston correspondent wired a denial from Chairman Holton, in which he said the statement in the Atlanta paper relative to his Washington visit was untrue. Not satisfied with this, Chairman Holton sent the Post last week another denial of the open letter variety, so as to work in some of his campaign thunder in a democratic paper. This, too, was published.

The interview in the Atlanta Journal which Mr. Holton has been so busy denying was written by Mr. James A. Holloman, a native of North Carolina, and one of the best known newspaper men at the national capital. Mr. Holloman says his statement was absolutely true. In a letter to the Post Mr. Holloman gives the following interesting information on the question at issue:

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.

To the Raleigh Post: I see from a Winston dispatch in your paper that Republican Chairman Holton denounces as "wholly false" a recent statement that I made regarding his visit to Washington. No one doubted that he would deny the facts when reached North Carolina. It is too often true that politicians, and especially southern white republicans, many of whom are novices in their trade, come to Washington and say and do a great many things that live to plague them at their homes.

Now as to that statement. I said that Holton was here to discuss with administration officials the proposed franchise amendment in North Carolina. The statement is absolutely correct. It is possible, of course, that he had some other business. I don't know about that, but I do know that he was not only "discussed" the North Carolina situation with leading republicans here, but that he took advantage of the opportunity, the time and the place, to attack in the most caustic terms the democratic party of his state.

Will he deny that he gave to the political editor of the Washington Post a direct interview and asked that it be published? It was published and I quote some of his references to Chairman Simmons as "making lawless threats," with "making false promises," with "attempting by violent and vehement denunciation to arouse race prejudice and inspire followers with lawlessness." Further along he charged Chairman Simmons with "attempting by threatened intimidation and lawlessness to drive from the field of discussion every man who would sound the alarm of warning to those people whose confidence he and his legislature so recklessly betrayed in the submission of this proposition, and in the enactment of a fraudulent and unconstitutional election law, without which they could not expect to succeed in these designs against the rights and liberties of the people."

Would Chairman Holton recognize his own writing? He said something "desperation." I now quote from the Washington Post's own introduction to the statement made by Holton. It says:

"Republican State Chairman A. E. Holton, of North Carolina, who is in the city said to a Post reporter yesterday that utterances from the leaders of the democratic party in his state (referring to an alleged statement by Chairman Simmons that the negro question in North Carolina had passed the stage of discussion and reached the stage of settlement) indicated their separatist tendencies."

The Washington Post said further in its headline introductory to the Holton statement:

"A republican leader says that the issue will be fully discussed despite the utterances of democrats—He says that the attempt to arouse race prejudice will result in riots and bloodshed—upholders of amendments: responsible."

"The 'republican leader' referred to in the quotation is Holton and the 'issue' the proposed amendment."

What did I say that he says is "wholly false"? I quote my own words:

"The chairman is charging fraud, intimidation, desperation, lawlessness and many other things against the democrats in general and Chairman Simmons in particular, and declares that riots and bloodshed will inevitably result, as the negroes are determined to fight for and demand their rights."

Somebody's veracity is at stake. I said further:

"Chairman Holton will take the matter over with Senator Hanna and President McKinley today, and will intimate, it is said, that federal troops will be necessary when the vote is taken."

This referred to a conference then in prospect. I now state that he saw both McKinley and Hanna in regard to the North Carolina amendment campaign. Whether he "intimated" to McKinley that federal troops would be necessary in North Carolina on election day, as reported that he might do, I do not know. Only McKinley and Holton and the good Lord know about that. It is certain that if he did so he got no encouragement from McKinley, whose record in the past week has demonstrated that he is not anxious to have government troops collide with southern democrats.

TAYLOR HAS NOT SIGNED

The Plans for Peace Reached at Louisville.

HE MAY REFUSE TO DO SO AT ALL

Confers With His Attorneys Somewhere and is Still Muzzled—Why He is Holding Out.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Frankfort, Feb. 7.—Governor Taylor, it was announced this morning, had not signed the agreement reached at Louisville between democratic and republican leaders, and will take no action until late today. He would indicate by nothing that he would decide, even then. He wanted to consult with some gentlemen today and nothing will be said until after the conference. The gentlemen referred to are most likely Messrs. Bradley and Breckenridge, his attorneys.

A man who is close to Taylor says he will not sign the agreement. The republicans urge him to hold out for the reason that not enough assurance has been given that Goebel election law will be repealed.

LEGISLATORS GO TO LOUISVILLE.

Cincinnati, Feb. 7.—Most of the members of the Kentucky legislature who have been here, left Louisville this morning. The party included J. W. C. Beckman. A few of the members went to Covington and boarded the funeral train, then going to Frankfort. It was understood last night that the whole party would go to Frankfort, but for some reason the destination of the majority was changed to Louisville.

ANNEXATION MEANS RUIN

How Holding the Philippines Will Affect the Agriculturists.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The Philippine question again occupied the attention of the house today. Mr. Williams, of Massachusetts, presented an argument against the annexation of the Philippines, which attracted much attention.

It was devoted almost entirely to the commercial aspects of the acquisition of the islands would be ultimately ruinous to the American producers of cotton, rice, tobacco, hemp and sugar.

The general debate on the diplomatic bill closed today and will be taken up tomorrow for amendment under the five minute rule.

The final conference report on the urgent deficiency bill was agreed to. When the diplomatic bill was taken up Mr. Gibson, of Tennessee, opened the debate with a general argument in favor of expansion, reviewing the acquisitions of territory from the foundation of the government to show that expansion had been a national policy since its inception.

Mr. Williams said it was not very long to discuss this question from the standpoint of dollars and cents, but the spirit of commercialism made it necessary. He said that from the standpoint of American agricultural industry and American labor the annexation of the Philippines would be disadvantageous in comparison with what could be done under comparatively free trade relations. He believed that if we added the Philippines in setting up a stable government there we could obtain perpetual free entry for our goods and escape the great question of maintaining an army of 55,000 men which would be necessary if we retained the Philippines would be three times the value of the imports and exports of the islands.

"I am much opposed to annexation of the Philippines in its old historic American sense than I am to the new fangled doctrine of imperialism. As much as I would hate to see the declaration of independence, I would hate the winds, as much as I should hate to see the constitution amended so that we might have subjects, I would rather change the constitution than to admit eleven million barbarians like that and share alike with me and my children and my grandchildren in moulding the destinies of this great republic, the last hope of all the ages for popular freedom and for the demonstration of the fact that man can govern himself. (Applause.)"

MEANS RUIN TO AGRICULTURE.

"Now, my friends, one or two things will follow. Either commercial conditions in the Philippines will remain substantially as they are or they will be vastly improved under our flag. If they remain as they are, then if all the Philippines who wear clothes were to put into one gigantic order all the cotton they want for a year and send it within one week to the city of New Orleans, it would not create a ripple upon the cotton market. Now if upon the contrary, we teach them to wear clothes, either in the school house or upon the battlefield, and we produce a condition of great industrial progression and improvement then we may possibly create a valuable customer for first becoming an immense producer. Suppose these people progress more rapidly than Japan has progressed. Upon what lines must they increase their producing power? Today the main exports of the Philippine Islands consist of sugar, tobacco and hemp. Do the tobacco growers of Connecticut and Maryland want to produce that sort of industrial annexation in the Philippine islands that will enable men who are employed at 20 cents a day to compete with the men in the Connecticut valley and along the hills of Maryland who are raising tobacco? Do the sugar planters of Louisiana want to get valuable customers for the manufactured goods of this country by enabling these people to put up improved machinery for sugar manufacture and to enable them to sell five, ten, twenty, fifty and a hundred fold as much sugar as they do now in competition with the Louisiana man who raises cane sugar? Do the rice growers of Georgia and South Carolina and Louisiana want to annex that sort of competition?"

Mr. Cochran, of Missouri, said that if we were to govern the Philippines under the constitution it must be subject to all the limitations of that instrument. He called attention to the fact that the agreement made with the Sultan of Sulu recognized slavery and was therefore in violation of the amendment to the constitution which provided that slavery should be forever prohibited not only in the United States, but in all territory over which it exercised jurisdiction.

Mr. Cochran said that many of the slaves in the Sulu group were Christians and the descendants of Christians captured by the piratical Moros.

Mr. William A. Den Smith, Michigan, the member of the foreign affairs committee who offered an amendment in committee for a minister resident of the South African Republic and the Orange Free State said he knew it would be useless to offer the amendment in the house as a single objection would defeat it. He should therefore, offer a separate bill, not to embarrass the government, but because he believed a diplomatic officer of the government was needed in South Africa.

He said that much as his sympathies went out to the Boers he wished only for England's renown, glory and power because he believed the glory of England would redound to the benefit of Anglo-Saxon civilization everywhere.

Now when there was a popular demand that the president should offer to mediate in the struggle in South Africa he thought we could properly wait until the ripe judgment of the people should decide that the maid come to act. (Applause.)

"If you want to follow the president," asked Richardson, Tenn., "do you expect to follow him in his recommendation of free trade for Porto Rico or will you follow the ways and means committee's recommendation for 25 per cent duty?"

"I am with the president replied Smith. "He is the leader of our party and the embodiment of more wisdom than can be found in all the cohorts of democracy." (Republican applause.)

After some remarks by Mr. H. C. Mich., supporting the Boer side of South African contention the house at 5 p. m. adjourned.

NO TURNING BACKWARD.

White Supremacy and Good Government for All.

We have put our hands to the plow and we will not turn backward. In 1898 we unfurled the democratic banner to the breeze emblazoned with the rallying cry of "White Supremacy." We volunteered under that banner to head of the war. We have won the outposts of the enemy, we have driven them back in disorder, and they are making one last desperate stand reforming their broken lines behind the breastworks of prejudice and demagoguery. They form in vain. The traditions of North Carolina democrats are filled with glorious achievements; their courage is of the east, their determination is unyielding, their certainty of victory amounts to inspiration. For peace, for prosperity, for universal education, for that day when the race issue is forever settled, we can have absolutely free ballot and a fair count for "the glorious privilege of being independent," for general toleration of honest if mistaken opinions, we renew the contest. Let the banner of 1898 be again unfurled. Let it still be inscribed with the motto "White Supremacy," but above that let there also appear as the aim and end of while supremacy good government for all, absolute justice before the law and unquestioned liberty of opinion.—C. B. Aycock.

While the Americans were trying to haul the cart out the insurgents fired a volley from the bushes, killing six soldiers and two native drivers.

BOERS ATTACKING GATACRE.

Roberts and Kitchener Have Gone to the Front.

BRISTLING NEWS IS EXPECTED.

Reports Which Increase the Hopefulness That Has Been Apparent in the British Mind.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, Feb. 7.—Lord Roberts and General Kitchener have gone to the front. It is the announcement which is made in a Cape Town dispatch dated yesterday. This news increases the hopefulness which has been apparent in the British public mind.

While there is no clue as to what front Roberts has gone, the statement shows that a new campaign has been begun in earnest and whether the first move will be on Modder River, Colerburg or Natal, the next few days will bristle with important events.

BOERS ATTACKING GATACRE.

London, Feb. 7.—A Sterkstroom dispatch says the Boers are attacking Gatacre from two directions, and that firing was proceeding at the time the dispatch left. A delayed Sterkstroom dispatch, dated Monday, announces that a large body of troops left the camp on Saturday and that important developments are expected. This probably explains Roberts' departure.

PRISONERS TRY TO ESCAPE.

Cape Town, Feb. 7.—Five Boer prisoners at Simonstown tried to escape last night. They were in possession of firearms and wounded the prison warden. Two of the fugitives were wounded and all were captured.

BULLER HAS CROSSED.

Pretoria, Feb. 7.—A telegram from Boer headquarters says Buller crossed the Tugela river on Monday at two points under cover of a heavy fire, and that the British had been driven back to Potgieter's drift.

While the physicians in charge do not think there is any danger to the college from the illness with typhoid fever, of Dr. McIver's son, yet the doctor is to be commended for promptly writing to all the patrons of the State Normal and Industrial College the facts in the case. The president's house is separate entirely from the college and the dormitories. The sick youth has been in a low state of health since the holidays. He is said to be improving.

While the Kentucky trouble, the war in South Africa, the Philippine farce, and the coming election in North Carolina, are claiming your attention—the latter entitled to your earnest consideration—don't lose sight of the fact that your home and Guilford county are to be considered. Let the agitation for "good roads and good schools" be kept up with a determination that Guilford shall be second to no county in the state in these things. The ball has been started for good roads. Keep it rolling. Our schools and colleges are the equal of any in the land. Let's make them better.

About the weakest statement we have heard as coming from the late Governor Goebel, of Kentucky, is when he called an intimate friend, the chaplain of the penitentiary, to his dying bed side, he said: "I wish to announce to the world that I do not hold myself in open violence to the word of God." There is precious little consolation in that statement for his friends, and just about nothing on which to found a hope that "he is better now." It had been said that Mr. Goebel was an agnostic and there isn't much in his dying declaration to relieve him of the accusation.

Senator Butler, whose reputation it does not hurt to call a traitor to his race, on yesterday delivered his much heralded "legal argument" on the constitutional amendment and in support of Senator Pritchard's resolution. Those who have carefully read the speech characterize it as a weak affair. Nothing surprising about that. The utter weakness of the cause renders it impossible for even a strong man to make other than a weak speech in defence of it. Butler attempted to make the few who heard him believe that he really thought white people would be disfranchised.

The letter copied from the News and Observer yesterday, written, it is claimed, by a woman who says she killed Goebel, is about the thinnest thing of the season, to use a common expression. We had intended to say this much along with the publication of the letter in this paper, but it was overlooked. The last paragraph gives the whole thing away:

"Now put your detectives on my track, if you can find a track, but I have no fear of them, even though we may be on the same boat or ship. Now I leave you to your own cognition to see if you can find anything else to lay at the door of the republicans."

The writer of that letter never saw Goebel, and perhaps never was in the blue grass state. It was plainly written for political purposes, but the writer is badly mistaken in the general public intelligence.

Greensboro leads the state in protecting against smallpox, but the other cities are following suit. Charlotte is the last to date to enact compulsory vaccination, realizing that to be the only way to have the very people among whom is the most danger, vaccinated. Winston adopted Greensboro's plan and employed outside physicians to make a systematic vaccination canvass, and High Point has done the same. Those towns that have entered into a determination to render themselves immune have lost no time in fooling with the quarantine force. To render quarantine effective means to absolutely surround a town with a line of bayonets and cut off comers from all directions and keep your own people at home. And it does not require a Solomon to see that such would be enormously expensive and most disastrous business. Vaccinate, isolate and disinfect, was the advice of Dr. Wertenbaker, which means to protect the people by having them vaccinated, isolate every case as it appears and thoroughly disinfect him and the premises when well, and thus stamp out the disease.

ISLANDS OURS TO KEEP.

Commissioners Say We Must Hold the Philippines.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The first volume of the Philippine commission's report has been submitted to congress. The conclusions reached are as follows:

1. The United States cannot withdraw from the Philippines. We are there and duty binds us to remain. There is no escape from the responsibility to the Philippines and to mankind for the government of the archipelago and the amelioration of the condition of the inhabitants.

2. The Philippines are wholly unprepared for independence, and if independence were given them, they could not maintain it.

Under the third head is included a copy of Admiral Dewey's letter to Senator Lodge, which was read in the senate the other day denying Aguinaldo's claim that he was promised independence.

4. There being no Philippine nation, but only a collection of different peoples, there is no general public opinion in the archipelago, but the men of property and education, who alone interest themselves in public affairs, in general recognize as indispensable American authority, guidance and protection.

5. Congress should at the earliest practical time provide for the Philippines the form of government herein recommended or equally liberal and beneficial.

6. Pending any action on the part of congress, the commission recommends that the president put in operation this scheme of civil government in such parts of the archipelago as are at peace.

7. So far as the finances of the Philippines permit, public education should be promptly established, and when established, made free to all.

8. The greatest care should be taken in the selection of officials for administration. They should be men of highest character and fitness, and parties politics should be entirely separated from the government of the Philippines.

The commission is unable to find any means of assimilating the tariff of the Philippines with that of the United States, saying that the differences are fundamental and irreconcilable and that so long as the existing chaos remains between the economic and social conditions of the Philippines and those of the United States, so long it remains impracticable to identify their tariffs. They therefore recommend that for the present at least no attempt be made to readjust the tariff basis.

Comes to grief—the undertaker.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

The egotist may have an impediment in his speech, but never in his life.

Free of Charge.

Any adult suffering from a cold settled on the breast, bronchitis, throat or lung troubles of any nature, who will call at Grissom & Fordham's, will be presented with a sample bottle of Boschee's German Syrup, free of charge. Only one bottle given to one person, and none to children without order from parents. No throat or lung remedy ever had such a sale as Boschee's German Syrup in all parts of the civilized world. Twenty years ago millions of bottles were given away, and your druggist will tell you a success was marvellous. It is really the only throat and lung trouble generally endorsed by physicians. Only 75-cent bottle will cure or prove its value. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries.

SALT RHEUM CURED BY Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLES.

JUST SEEN IN TIME.

Slight Skin Eruptions are a Warning of Something More Serious to Come. The Only Safe Way to Stop the Warning. Johnston's Sarsaparilla is the Most Powerful Blood Purifier Known.

Nature, in her efforts to correct mistakes, which mistakes have come from careless living, or it may be from ancestors, shoots out pimples, blotches and other imperfections on the skin, as a warning that more serious troubles (perhaps tumors, cancers, erysipelas or pulmonary diseases) are certain to follow if you neglect to heed the warning and correct the mistakes.

Many a lingering, painful disease and many an early death has been avoided simply because these notes of warning have been heeded and the blood kept pure by a right use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA.

Miss Abbie J. Bandy, of Marshall, Mich., writes:

"I was cured of a bad humor after suffering with it for five years. The doctors and my friends said it was salt rheum. It came out on my head, neck and ears, and then on my whole body. I was perfectly raw with it. What I suffered during those five years, is no use telling. Nobody would believe me if I did. I tried every medicine that was advertised to cure it. I spent money I did. I tried a bottle of it. I began to improve right away, and when I had finished the third bottle I was completely cured. I have never had a touch of it since. I never got any thing to do me the least good till I tried JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. I would heartily advise all who are suffering from humors or skin disease of any kind to try it at once. I had also a good deal of stomach trouble, and was run down and miserable, but JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA made me all right."

The blood is your life and if you keep it pure and strong you can positively resist disease or face contagion fearlessly. JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA never fails. It is for sale by all druggists in 1/4 quart bottles at only one dollar each.

THE LOWER SHELF.

When from the chatter I retire And close my study door behind, A chair is wheeled before the fire— A thoughtful hand has drawn the blind. Then o'er the shelves I range my eyes, Where volumes wait with me and I, The stately pompous fellows—high: The ragged—on the lower shelf.

They line my study's narrow wall. These friends to whom for rest I come, I cannot say I know them all, But they are all my friends some. And would you knew the gods I serve With love that's well nigh worthy self, Gladly they'd swap the shabby cure That bulges on the lower shelf.

You mount a somewhat shabby chair; You point to princely tomes above, With, "This is fine" and "This is rare!" But where's the book a man can love? Ah, leave the grand ones, I beseech! They do but cumber thoughts of self, While these untidy beggars reach To heaven from the lower shelf.

A CURIOSITY OF ALASKA.

Beaches Formed by Driftwood From All Over the World.

One of the greatest curiosities noted by travelers in Alaska is the wonderful haven of driftwood on the coast between Yakutat and Kiyak islands, some 1,200 or 1,500 miles northeast from Seattle. The constant deposit of logs and driftwood in this particular spot, which has been going on for hundreds, perhaps thousands, of years, is due to the phenomena of the tides, the Pacific gulf stream, the mysterious ocean currents and the peculiar formation of the shore lines at that point. Logs and timbers are readily identified there as having come from Japan, China, India and other parts of Asia, as well as from California, Washington and other parts of the American continent. There are fine logs of the camphor tree, the mahogany, the redwood and the pine in this driftage. Some of them from the state of Washington contain the names of the men who felled the trees and of the sawmills for which they were destined, but never reached. Logs eight feet in diameter are in this novel woodyard, and some entire trees 12 feet long are there, uplifted by the roots, cast into the sea by some terrible tempest and sent floating round the world. Other persons on the beach describ big trees floating shoreward, with fantastic roots above the waves like some sea monster. One beach after another has been formed by the floating timbers, and a little distance back from the shore the deposits are so old that the wood in some places is petrified, while a little deeper in the earth it has turned into coal. The newer logs are with-out bark and as hard as stone. Due to it is thought, to their long immersion in salt water. They have all taken on a whitish appearance. In places the timbers are piled 20 feet high; at other points they rise to a height of only four or five feet.

Under this wonderful beach are found large quantities of dark, ruby sand, rich in fine particles of gold, for the separation of which no successful process has yet been discovered.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Lost King.

In olden times, when European kings were as plentiful as Kentucky colts are today, it was not an exceptional occurrence for a king to disappear and never be heard of again. In ancient times, however, the people have been more careful of their kings. So when King Sebastian of Portugal disappeared in battle July 23, 1578, while fighting the Moors at Alcazar, there was great commotion. The Moors surrendered to the Portuguese a body said to be that of the king, but it was rumored that the Moors had the king alive in custody. The surrendered body was buried with royal honors at Belem, but the faithful Portuguese persisted in waiting for the real king. Long after he would have died in the course of nature his countrymen longingly awaited his coming.

Even up to this day the legend of the return of King Sebastian is believed by many, and on stormy nights evocative Portuguese citizens will wrap their cloaks about them and go outside and watch the storm, thinking that the king may appear in a cloud of fire again to rule.

What is a Sleeper?

Here is a definition which is as difficult to read rapidly as Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers, and yet is more sensible. In fact, it is an actual statement of facts, as you will find if you read it slowly:

A sleeper is one who sleeps. A sleeper is that in which a sleeper sleeps. A sleeper is that on which the sleeper sleeps while the sleeper sleeps. Therefore while the sleeper sleeps in the sleeper the sleeper carries the sleeper over the sleeper under the sleeper until the sleeper which carries the sleeper jumps the sleeper and wakes the sleeper in the sleeper by striking the sleeper under the sleeper and the sleeper, and there is no longer any sleeper sleeping in the sleeper on the sleeper.

No Woman May Reign.

The queen has been asked why none of the daughters of the czar may be a successor to the throne on which the great Catherine proved her capacity. The exclusion rests only on an edict of the Emperor Paul, the son of Catherine the Great, issued to discredit his mother's memory.

France has as many as 45,000 families, with 130,000 individuals, claiming a title of nobility; but, as a matter of fact, only about 450 families can prove their claim to descent from a noble family in feudal times.

Among the improvements going on we mention: The hotel will be repainted is now in progress. The whole building is to be refurnished with new carpets, furniture and felt mattresses with the best springs. The order for these has been placed and they will be in-St Plunkard.

A Yankee comedy of the above name will be at the academy of music, February 13th. The comedy is in four acts, the scenes of which are laid in and around the New England country and New York City. The central figure of course is St Plunkard, a young Yankee notion peddler, which part is looked after by Mr. J. C. Lewis.

Some of the leading characters seen may be mentioned: Dora Page, a young country lass in love with St
Felix Smart, an inventive Dutchman;
Robert Duncy, a bogus stock speculator; Ezra Page, an honest old farmer who does not understand speculation; Moses Wilton, a Hebrew money lender, and numerous country friends of Page family. The performance includes many specialties of an original and novel character by a company of comedians.

"John Bull and His Islands."

The New York Herald says:
"This witty Frenchman, both as a writer and as a 'raconteur,' invariably proves the most brilliant humorist and satirist of the age. To reproduce Max O'Rell's movements, gestures and delivery during his inimitable comedy lectures would be impossible."

The Boston Gazette speaks of him
as follows:
"M. Blouet's lectures are entirely in the spirit of his books, most amusing and fascinating. His forte is his faculty of putting facts before his hearers in the most telling manner.
His lectures run along like the gentle billows of the ocean. He holds his audience in the palms of his hands and plays upon their emotions as easily as a shepherd on his pipes."

Max O'Rell lectures at the Normal

It is not what we can "work off" on a customer—that's not our way; it's not present day business guption.
It's giving him such honest value in dry goods and shoes that brings him back again and again; brings his friends, too. That's our way.

YOUR GLASSES Don't give relief, but sometimes your eyes smart, ache, become tired or water. Abuse by using glasses that are not right will ruin your eyes, or if neglected and strained when glasses are needed, trouble will come. This is not merely speculation but facts. We know it and you will find it out, perhaps to your sorrow.
Our glasses will give relief. We guarantee our work right. Do you value your eyes? If so, protect them.

MANY WARM FRIENDS.

Vanitory & Co. Are Grateful for Expressions of Sympathy.
The insurance adjusters had not got through with their work following Sunday morning's fire, today. The losses, so far as can now be ascertained, were about correctly reported in the Telegram on Monday. All were amply covered by insurance except the large clothing firm of C. M. Vanitory & Co.
This firm have been receiving letters and telegrams of sympathy ever since the fire. Many offers of substantial aid are contained in them. Of course these people are deeply grateful for the liberal interest manifested in their behalf.
They have not yet decided how soon they will reopen, as they have not yet secured a location in which to do business until the burned building can be replaced.
Mr. Vernon, who owns the building, will replace it at once. Work on it was begun this afternoon.

"Roney's Boys"

A title adopted by the lads themselves a few years ago, are in no way related to Manager Henry B. Roney.
Under this name a large number of concerts have been given, novel in all respects and astonishing in the youthful attainments exhibited. Though the personnel of the boys necessarily changes from time to time the high standard of performance does not, and always represents the acme of juvenile talent and cultivation in vocal and instrumental music, which is at once an educational stimulus to the young and a charm to the old. The "Roney's Boys" of the present tour are:
Master Harry Cockrell, a tiny boy of ten years, who possesses a bird-like high soprano voice, reaching to high E with ease.
Master James Crippen, contralto, a soprano, polished little gentleman of eleven years, who has sung in hundreds of concerts with "Roney's Boys" and has established himself as a favorite in the affection of thousands.
Master Arthur Goff, a ten-year-old concertist with the style, brilliancy, execution, "triple tongueing," etc., of a professional thrice his age; a musical marvel;
Master Percy Sudborough, fourteen years, a brilliant soloist upon the violin, saxophone and clarinet, the only boy saxophonist in America, and the most versatile boy musician before the public.

The marvelous attainments of these boys, coupled with their sweet and modest bearing, have an inspiring influence upon the children of a city, and the high educational value of their performance is universally recognized.
